SJGHC uses about 400k sterilisation wraps a year. Detail below. Pricing of these ranges between $0.15 and $2.50 depending on size and spec. Pricing would be similar, but units required much higher in many other Australian hospital systems right now.

As you can see, there are a number of products within the category. These items are used to wrap equipment that is wheeled and used in surgeries. The whole point of it is to keep all items sterile so there are very strict laws around the specifications and sterility of the product here in Australia, hence the queries on further certifications and request for samples if possible.

Let me know what you hear back from your team.

Regards

JP

Hi JP,

I never purchased these before. When I buy them from the manufacturer I have to give them an approximate monthly volume I would want and the price.

I don't if these cost $0.05 each or $5.00 each. Do you have precovid prices and current COVID prices for these?

Thomas

Hi Tommy

No sure what WA Health's plan is, I don't actually speak with them, I just knew they were in the hunt.

For us, I'm working on approval for a sterilization wrap stockpile. The guys will likely have a couple more questions on your product, will let you know as they come through. Are samples available? Happy to pay for them if required.

Will leave it with you and your team to engage with Tommy and see if there are suitable solutions possible.

Hi Mark

We were put in touch with a US supplier during COVID who was a reliable supplier to Ascension's circa 200 hospitals (a Catholic health system we have a good relationship with). We have not used them yet, but got close. They appear to have access to wraps, not sure on timelines or price yet.

James Williamson reached out to our CEO Shane Kelly asking if we had excess stock we don't require. We don't, but would you like this US contact so you can at least start a conversation? The only ask I'd have is that if we need them, we are kept whole first, however from what I can sense they tend to have access to higher volumes.

Regards
